

TANGLED ART + DISABILITY

presents:

The Workshop Web

A Cross-Disciplinary Workshop Series for Cross-Disability Artists

The Workshop Web

Tangled London's Workshop Web is a workshop series offering accessible and innovative arts opportunities for Deaf and disability-identified people. These workshops welcome artists, and artists-to-be, to participate, create and share with like-individuals in a safe environment. Workshops have a cap of 8 individuals. Please email:

london@tangledarts.org with questions or to register for workshops.

- Digital Storytelling: An Introduction to Creative Writing and Stop Motion Animation -

- April 8 & 9 - 1 pm - 5 pm -

- The Bus Stop (MakerBus) 870 Dundas Street East -

Video artists and writers Thirza Curhand and Christine Negus will facilitate a creative writing and moving image-making workshop as participants work on texts for short videos and animations.

- Interactive Fiction: An Introduction to Game Making Using Twine -

- April 29 & 30 - 1 pm - 5 pm -

- Forest City Gallery 258 Richmond Street -

The game-making and curating duo of Diana Poulsen and Matt Sparling will introduce participants to the basics of game design and programming in order for you to begin to make your very own game (with no previous experience or specialized equipment required).

Participants are required to bring a laptop.

For an e-reader reader version, visit: tangledarts.org/londonworkshops

