Private tests are made public in these personal experiments of the space between the body and the world. Logue uses her body and the repetition of a single gesture, to commune with household items and nature. This exhibition will include new works, soundscapes, and tactile audio and video extensions made by David Bobier of VibraFusionLab. This exhibition is presented in collaboration with the Images Festival, April 20 – 27, 2017. For more information visit www.imagesfestival.com.
